RECOMMENDATIONS.

From the Pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Boston.

Messrs. Lincoln & Edmonds,

I am pleased to learn, that you are about to give the publick a Stereotype Edition of the Holy Bible, in which all the proper names and other words of doubtful pronunciation, are divided and accented according to Walker's approved standard of classical pronunciation. With sincere wishes that you may realize your most sanguine expectations in the rapid and extensive sale of the work, I subscribe, Gentlemen, most respectfully yours,

July 20, 1824.

THOMAS BALDWIN.

From the Pastor of the Third Baptist Church and the Old South Church in Boston.

Messrs. Lincoln and Edmonds,

Having with much pleasure examined Mr. Alger's Pronouncing Testament, in which accents are placed over the proper names and other words, in conformity with the principles of Walker's Pronouncing Dictionary, and Classical Key, we are gratified to learn, that you are publishing the whole Bible on a similar plan, and we cordially recommend the Pronouncing Bible to publick patronage, believing it will materially aid in promoting a correct and uniform pronunciation of the Scripture proper names.

Boston, July 6, 1824.

DANIEL SHARP.
B. B. WISNER.

From Rev. Mr. Heddin, Bishop of the Methodist Church.

Messrs. Lincoln & Edmonds,

For many years past, I have observed in different parts of the United States, a great inconvenience in reading the Holy Scriptures, arising from the want of a uniform standard for pronouncing Scripture proper names; some following one author, and some another, and many guided only by their own fancies. The "Pronouncing Testament" you have lately published, I think, will be a remedy for this inconvenience, as far as it respects that part of the Sacred Volume. Being on the plan of Mr. Walker's Key, which has but a limited circulation, and agreeing with his system of pronouncing other words, which is now coming into general use in this country, I doubt not it will be of extensive utility, both to youth and others, in producing a correct and uniform pronunciation of the Scripture proper names. I hope it will not be long before the whole Bible will issue from your press on the same plan. Respectfully yours,

Boston, Nov. 17, 1823. ELIJAH HEDDING.

From the Rector of Christ Church, Boston.

Messrs. Lincoln & Edmonds,

I am happy to learn that you contemplate publishing an edition of the whole Bible on the plan of Alger's Pronouncing Testament. Highly approving of this plan, and persuaded that it is calculated greatly to facilitate the attainment of a correct and uniform pronunciation among all classes of readers, you have my best wishes for abundant success in your laudable undertaking.

June 23, 1824.

A. EATON

Very respectfully yours,

From the Pastor of the Baptist Church in Pawtucket.

Pawtucket, July 22, 1824.

Messrs. Lincoln & Edmonds,

I have from the first of your proposing to publish the Bible with Walker's rules of pronunciation felt a deep interest in the plan. As readers of all descriptions, and especially those of common education, have long felt the difficulty of pronouncing uniformly and correctly the proper names of the Old Testament, a Bible upon your plan, I am confident, will meet with a most welcome reception from the Christian publick.

Yours, &c.

DAVID BENEDICT.

From the Pastor of the Union Church, Boston.

Having examined the plan of Alger's Pronouncing Testament, I am satisfied of its being a happy method for producing uniformity and propriety of pronunciation in reading the Holy Scriptures. Walker's principles of pronouncing adopted in this work, are undoubtedly, as a whole, the prevailing standard among our best speakers.

SAMUEL GREEN.

Boston, July 20, 1824.

From the Principal of the Bowdoin English Grammar School in Derne Street, Boston.

Boston, Oct. 29, 1822.

Mr. Alger, Sir, I have perused the "Pronouncing Testament," and for the use of schools, I think it superior to any that has come under my consideration;—in my opinion it will greatly facilitate the pronunciation of our language, and save much labour both to the pupil and the instructor; and I have no doubt that it will meet with the liberal patronage of a discerning public.

Yours, &c.
ABRAHAM ANDREWS.

For sale, by Lincoln & Edmonds, The PRONOUNCING TESTAMENT, in which the proper names and other words, are accented in a manner similar to this edition of the Pronouncing Bible, and is peculiarly adapted to the use of schools.

The PRONOUNCING INTRODUCTION, being Murray's Introduction to the English Reader, with accents to lead to a correct pronunciation, agreeably to Walker's system; to which is added an Appendix, containing a selection of words from the work, with definitions.

Mr. Murray, in his English Reader, remarks, that "by attentively consulting Walker's Pronouncing Dictionary, the young reader will be much assisted in his endeavours to attain a correct pronunciation of the English language." This object is in this publication, as in the Pronouncing Testament, greatly facilitated, by dividing and accenting the proper names, and numerous other words, according to the orthoepy contained in Walker's Dictionary and Key. This edition of the Introduction will doubtless be found peculiarly useful, and cannot fail to be extensively patronised.

The PRONOUNCING ENGLISH READER, being Murray's Reader, accented on a similar plan to the Introduction and Testament. In this edition, the sections are divided into paragraphs of convenient length for each scholar in a class to read, which renders the work more convenient in Schools; and a frontispiece is affixed, exhibiting Walker's illustration of the rising and falling inflections of the voice. Perhaps no reading book has passed through so many editions in the United States as Murray's Reader, and its superior merit entitles it to this distinction.

In these editions of the above works, it has been the object of the publishers to elevate the standard of school-books, in typographical execution. The works have been beautifully stereotyped, and are printed on fine paper, and handsomely bound.

N. B. The School Committee of Boston have approbated the Pronouncing Introduction and the Pronouncing English Reader, and directed these editions to be used in the Publick Schools in the city.
